quarters in the palace at Versailles. The "Big Four" will be able to exchange opinions and draft their program without any outside interference. And when that program is arranged a complete statement will be forthcoming for the benefit of the American people. There will be no secret diplomacy, officials again asserted with great emphasis today.

Acrimonious Debate Otherwise.
The subject at issue is too great and means too much to the people of the world to have it settled through round-table procedure. But it is absolutely necessary that the viewpoint of the "spokesmen for democracy," as the President and the allied premiers were today aptly termed, should be secured without acrimonious debate. And such debate hardly could be avoided if the representatives of the great allied powers entered the peace conference without previously having reached a basis of common understanding.

It is here believed that a complete agreement on the big questions involved in the creation of a League of Nations and how the "freedom of the seas" shall be secured is possible. They say that there is a complete understanding on both subjects in the cabinet and that the points subject to argument are in detail only. It will not require any lengthy discussion, in their opinion, to reach an agreement, and then the work of the conference will be plain sailing.

Paris dispatches today saying that submarine warfare hereafter would probably be restricted only to operations against naval craft were somewhat confusing, officials said. They expect that submarine warfare will be restricted, of course. But they feel satisfied that no effort will be made to deny a nation at war the use of submarines against troop transports as well as war vessels.

YANKS ENTER PRUSSIA; ENGINEERS LAY RAILWAY FROM VERDUN TO METZ

ambulance workers. Short trips were made into Rhenish Prussia, where the inhabitants are reported to have shown the Americans every consideration.

10,000 Yanks Build Line.
More than 10,000 Americans are employed on the task of rebuilding the railroads across No Man's Land north-east of Verdun. The Twenty-third Engineers having charge of the work.

The most difficult task overcome by the Americans was the clearing of a tunnel two miles from Verdun in the region of Fort de la Vierge. The tunnel was used by the French as a shelter during the siege of Verdun.

The American forces resting Sunday along the German frontier spent their spare time at various points watching the Germans opposite them. In numerous instances the Germans waved farewell when their detachments started on their homeward march.

Riot Reports Continue.
Reports of rioting continue to reach American headquarters from various sources. One report was to the effect that a German colonel had been dragged from his horse by soldiers and beaten severely. Before crossing from Luxembourg many of the privates told the Luxemburgers that when they reached Germany, they would decline to obey their officers, do as they please, and if taken to task by their officers, trouble would result.

On Saturday, the Americans observed individual German soldiers carrying red flags, but these men did not attempt to cross to the American side, nor were they apparently in any hurry to withdraw from the frontier.

GERMANS RETIRE SINGING; BELIEVE, WHILE BEATEN, THEY'RE NOT CONQUERED

German troops are retiring orderly and in good humor before the American army of occupation in Luxembourg, semi-official dispatches through the Committee on Public Information stated today. American troops are eager to complete the job of occupation.

"In spite of German defeat, the Teuton troops are apparently in good humor," the dispatch stated. "The returning army is leaving little equipment behind and the troops are singing their war songs as they withdraw. The general impression is that while they have been beaten they have not been conquered and their attitude toward the Americans is good humored."

"According to all reports, in spite of revolutionary talk," the dispatch adds, "the troops are still in control of their officers. There is little evidence of disorder. Food apparently is plentiful among the German troops."

GOT A NICE, GENIE MULE? THEN LISEN

Has anybody got a mule?
This mule must be a perfectly kind, shrewd, good-natured and non-balking mule—preferably a self-starter—good-looking and well groomed.

If anybody knows a mule like this or even has a slight acquaintance with such an one, Mrs. Harold Minot, chairman of the Free Milk for France Fund, would like to be notified. Mrs. Minot wants this mule to participate in the parade the organization is to have on Wednesday—therefore, the necessity of the mule's presenting a good appearance. The mule will be associated in the parade with charming society women and debutantes dressed as fetching dairymaids or in the overalls of farmerettes.

All the Senators and Congressmen now in the city have been invited to select the pretty farmerettes and milkmaids in the parade. Attaches from the French and Belgium embassies will also take part. Several aeroplanes will direct the parade of march. The parade will form in Scott Circle, proceed down Sixteenth street to Executive avenue, side of the White House, where, it is hoped, President Wilson will review it.

Miss Carter Mulliken, daughter of the late Charles Mulliken, will direct the farmerettes and Margaret Harding will have charge of the dairy maids.

It was necessary to exert some pressure and diplomacy on the girls selected to wear the overalls. Miss Mulliken speaks for them all.

"We wouldn't dress in this fashion," she said, "if it were not for the cause. We want to impress upon everyone the needs of the babies, the sick soldiers and the tubercular patients in France and Belgium. We want to collect thousands and thousands of dollars to finance this free milk for France."

But the mules are the real necessity. Otherwise there will be no way of having fresh milk in the parade representing dairy products unless some one donates motor trucks.

There it is—a mule or a motor truck—and notify headquarters at 1401 F street.

2 HELD UP 25 FOR 2 MINUTES; CAUGHT

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 25.—Charles McCommon and Mack C. Vause are in jail today on a charge of holding up twenty-five men last night. They used pistols. The men they robbed are said to have been playing poker when the hold-up men entered with drawn pistols.

McCommon, who held the pistols, was knocked down. Both were tied and held for the police. Two hundred dollars was recovered.

MINE SWEEPERS TO OPEN WAY TO KIEL

LONDON, Nov. 25.—A flotilla of British mine sweepers left the Firth of Forth at 9 o'clock this morning for Kiel to open up a passage for one battle ship and a squadron of destroyers, which will soon be dispatched to Germany to see that the remainder of the German fleet is dismantled and interned according to the terms of the armistice.

Nerves Need Phosphorus Like Muscles Need Food
Says Doctor, Who Prescribes Phosphated Malt to Steady the Nerves Clear the Brain and Build Up Weak, Nervous, Runday People

Boston, Mass.—"Your nerves need phosphorus like your muscles need food," says Dr. Reid, "and the trouble with most men and women is that they have exhausted their natural supply of phosphorus and find themselves run down, weak and nervous. Often they look strong, as if they could do a full day's work, but while they have a certain kind of strength they lack endurance. They also lack decision and find it difficult to concentrate on one thing and finish it, and they are nervous, irritable and easily startled."

"But generally a lack of phosphorus shows itself in a lack of general interest and people are often thought to be lazy whereas they are only nervous. For months or years, they go on using a little more phosphorus than the system produces till a complete nervous breakdown is at hand. Both mind and body are affected and nothing improves them or interests them as it once did. It is dangerous and needless to run into such a condition, for if taken in time the supply of phosphorus can be replenished. Two five-grain tablets of phosphated malt after each meal for ten days will usually be all that is necessary."

"I have seen phosphated malt produce astonishing results in a very short time. Recently a patient came to me physically run down and on the verge of a mental collapse. His daily work had become drudgery and he got neither rest nor recreation from his sports or holidays. He could neither sleep nor concentrate his mind on his work. I advised him to take two five-grain tablets of phosphated malt after each meal. In less than ten days of vigor—his eyes bright, his step firm and his manner that of a man of twenty-five, although he was well past fifty."

The value of malt is well known to all physicians. It is a remarkable tonic and tissue builder. Combined with phosphorus as in phosphated malt it increases mental activity, balances the blood and aids the system to convert food into living tissue. The old liquid forms of malt are unpleasant to take, and besides, most of them contain alcohol. Phosphated malt has the tissue-building properties of malt without the evils of alcoholic stimulation. After a few days of it you wake up in the morning vigorous and refreshed, ready to do the day's work with double confidence, optimism and endurance."

NOTE—The feeling of exhilaration often noticeable after a few weeks use of phosphated malt is due to the fact that it is the cheerfulness that comes of perfect health—when the life stream flows freely, supplying the nourishment the body needs and enabling the organs of elimination to throw out the poisons which the body needs to be rid of. The cheerfulness of a perfect health and fearless nourishment is a tonic to most people as to be remarkable and strange. Phosphated malt is sold by all druggists and especially by Washington by the O'Connell, Peck's and Gilman stores.

HALL ON TRIAL FOR DEATH OF EVA ROY

face trial because in more than 300 days they could point the finger of suspicion to no other man. He said that Hall at that time had been subjected to more "grilling" than had any other man in the State of Virginia.

The first witness called by the Commonwealth was Joseph Berry, county surveyor, who testified as to the location of the crime.

Witnesses for the prosecution probably will be testifying all day.

Determined Fight.
The attorney for the defense says he will make the most determined fight in his career for the penniless woodcutter.

The confession of the crime by Ben Rubin and his later repudiation of his confession will play an important part in the case. Commonwealth Attorney Ford takes the stand that Ben Rubin has been eliminated from the case, but Hall's counsel refuses to have it so.

Attorney Oliver says that he is not only going to have the court demand the presence of Rubin as a witness for Hall, but will do the unusual in Virginia legal circles and have Commonwealth Attorney Ford himself as a witness for Hall. He is going to demand that Mr. Ford be put on the stand and testify as to his examination of Ben Rubin when the latter made his confession of the Eva Roy murder and who for six days refused to retract his confession, although he was "grilled" by the District and Fairfax authorities two or three times a day.

It is understood that the Commonwealth will try to corroborate much of its evidence against Hall by fixing a premeditated purpose for the crime. They are going to present evidence to show that Hall had had trouble with Peter Roy, the father of the girl, and that he had complained much about Eva Roy's cows getting into his garden.

The attorneys state that the trial of the case will last until Tuesday night or perhaps Wednesday morning.

'GENTLEMAN THIEF' DUELS WITH POLICE

BALTIMORE, Nov. 25.—A second daring robbery by a "gentleman burglar" in the fashionable Walbrook section was perpetrated early today, and was followed by a pistol duel between the "Raffles" and two policemen. In the pursuit, one of the policemen fell down an embankment and the thief escaped.

The man, early today, entered the home of Jacob R. Pfeiffer, on Garrison avenue. The family was awakened by the intruder and looked into the muzzles of two automatic pistols. The burglar politely requested assistance in locating valuables in the house. The request, augmented as it was with the pocket machine gun, was acceded to by the family.

The thief gathered together about $1,500 in money.

Some one informed the police of the robbery and two mounted policemen arrived just in time to see the men jump from a window. The pistol duel, in which many shots were exchanged, ensued.

The man was faultlessly attired and answered the description of a man who entered the home of Dr. Flitzger, also in Walbrook, a few days ago at an early hour, and terrorized and robbed the family.

D. C. BOY KILLED SLAYER OF CHUM

The death in action of Corp. Maurice B. Snyder was avenged by his lifelong chum, Private Carroll F. Stack, according to word received here today.

The boys, who lived near each other in Washington all of their lives, were each nineteen years old. They played together in school, camp and France together.

Stack is in a base hospital in France with his right arm shattered. Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Snyder, of 134 F street northeast, learned the story of the death of their youngest son today when Mrs. Thomas B. Stack, of 124 Maryland avenue northeast, received a letter from her son, written with his left hand, somewhere in France. The letter told of the battle in which Snyder was killed and Stack wounded.

Letter Tells Story.

"Maurice was killed at my very side on the seventh day of the fifteen-day drive which started on October 2. We went over the top at the zero hour together, with the squad. He commanded them with coolness and they followed him to the top of the hill."

"When the shelling became too hot I saw him fall. He was hit in the face of the rain of steel from the machine guns in our front. A powerful Hun arose and hurled a shell into our midst. Maurice was killed and my arm was hit. It carried some of our men ten feet."

Killed Chum's Slayer.

"I saw that I could not help Maurice, so when the signal came, I took part in the advance and killed the Hun who killed my best boyhood friend. We went through hell and gave the Hun hell. Maurice is avenged. I was hit again in the arm and had to retire, but not until I saw that my chum's body was all right so it would not be hit again, I guess. I will be home soon, I guess. I am writing with difficulty with my left hand."

Snyder and Stack enlisted and were sent to Annapolis, Ala., together. They went to France in Company F, 115th Infantry, last spring. Both attended the Business High School. Brothers of both are in the service.
